

Eric and Elise

Eric and Elise are a dynamic couple that travel the world teaching Adventure Seminars™ and undertaking philanthropic projects.

Directors of the Build a School initiative, they work to establish schools for under-privileged children in third-world countries.

Elise started her career as a professional world-ranked tennis player and then entered the business world by becoming a Chartered Accountant. She then went on to found a successful seminar and events company before joining forces with Eric and the E2 Team.

Eric was the founder and publisher of the internet's first personal and business development magazine that achieved circulation of 15,000 people in 70 countries. He then founded the ITR Group, a wireless integration company based in the South West of England. In 2006 Eric sold his majority share in the business in order to focus on his true passions: speaking, writing and philanthropy.

Co-authors of the forthcoming book 1000 Years of Marriage, the couple now run seminars and retreats focused on business and personal development, relationships and health and nutrition in Thailand, Indonesia, Tanzania, and South Africa.
